gueladio dedication

The first Assemblies of God Church among the Fulani people in Niger was constructed in January at Gueladio.

Rev. Glenn Beaver, West Texas District Secretary, preached the dedication service.

Rev. John VanHoose and Ibrahim made desks for 16 students as well as tables for the library.

west texas team

Brother Glenn Beaver made ten armoires for the Bible School dorm to serve 20 students.

Rev. Dewayne Gryder and Rev. Rex Kreusel built 12 bunk beds.

Shelley and Laura Kreusel worked very hard varnishing the bookshelves for the library and other furniture.

women's convention

The Niger Western District Women's Choir.

Brent interpreting for Earlene Ligon.

Shelley and the ladies from our church at Kouara Kano who attended the convention.

In November 2001 we were privileged to host at the Kouara Kano church in Niamey and the new Bible School building the first national women's convention for the Niger women's ministries.

The ladies were blessed by powerful preaching and teaching during the week. God's presence and anointing encouraged the women to persevere in their Christian walk and witness. The convention was marked by many manifestations of the Spirit.

Missionary and pastor's wives.

special thanks

- Thanks to all the supporters of the ministry here in Niger.
- Thanks to the West Texas Team for all their hard work. They built all the furniture for the dorm and library in 9 days.
- Thanks to the West Texas District, Cathedral of the Hills in Edmond, Oklahoma, and First Assembly of God in Winfield, Kansas for their significant giving to the Niamey Bible School project.

prayer requests

- Pray for the new opportunity for a weekly half hour radio program in Niamey.
- Pray for the completion of the construction of the Niamey Bible School.
- Pray for the new Fulani Christians in Gueladio that they will persevere in their new faith. Many were touched by the Lord during the Good News campaign.
